Happy 75th Birthday NHS

Happy birthday to everyone in the NHS. To celebrate the 75th anniversary of the start of the NHS we set up a display including books and photos from the library.

Hope everyone had a great time eating birthday cake and raising a glass to the NHS.

Health Information Week 2023

We joined Health Information Week, which ran from 3rd to 9th July. This is an opportunity for us to showcase some great resources that can help you to communicate with your patients. Read our blog posts:

The key themes have been:

Monday 3 July – Health Literacy: learn what health literacy is

Tuesday 4 July – Mental Health and Wellbeing: get some great patient information resources

Wednesday 5 July – Women’s Health: check our resources for patient information on women’s conditions

Thursday 6 July – Social Prescribing: learn what social prescribing is

Friday 7 July – Children's Health: get some great patient information resources on children's health conditions

Saturday 8 July – Cost of Living: find out how poverty impacts on people's health

Sunday 9 July – Shared Decision Making: learn more about shared decision making

Library staff were out at Royal Stoke with a display – hope you went to have a chat.

Make the most of OrthoEvidence

Working in orthopaedics or researching musculoskeletal conditions? Get the latest evidence. We subscribe to OrthoEvidence, a content provider of the best evidence in orthopaedics. You can get evidence summaries and expert assessments straight to your inbox.

We have a number of personal accounts available for staff and researchers working at Keele University or University Hospitals of North Midlands (UHNM).

Learn more about how OrthoEvidence can save you time, help you stay up-to-date and support your work: read our blog posts...

- What is OrthoEvidence and why is it useful?
- Personalising your OrthoEvidence account
- Arrange your OrthoEvidence Dashboard
- Get your OrthoEvidence Updates

Want to get your OrthoEvidence account? This resource is not available via OpenAthens login or Keele login. Please contact the eresources librarian at c.kent@keele.ac.uk for instructions to set up your account.

News from the TRIP database

TRIP database is an excellent resource which can be searched freely on the Internet. TRIP have released news about changes to their database:

- News from TRIP database: Introducing the ground breaking Risk of Bias score for RCTs and more
- New from Trip: More guideline scores, quality improvements and the last chance to take part in our survey!

For more help using TRIP database, please see our TRIP help page.

Using the Health Library website

You can get straight to the library service you need via the Health Library website ; get information about visiting the library, resources, specialist support, training, completing a request online and how to get in touch. Read our blog post to learn more about each section: Use the Health Library website to get straight to the service you need

Book Training Online

Our training librarians offer a number of online training opportunities to help you to get the most out of our resources and get the evidence you need. Sessions are available to Keele staff and students as well as NHS staff:

Learning Disability Week 19th to 25th June 2023

Learning Disability Week is organised by Mencap and every year they use this week to educate and campaign to end discrimination, smash stigma and raise awareness about learning disabilities. We're sharing some of our library resources around this topic, with you, including books, journals and articles, and patient information. Read our blog post to learn more.

Additional Training

I have started adding external training to the Information Skills for Health blog. These are online webinars delivered by the publishers and providers of the main resources we purchase. Training is suitable for either Keele students or NHS staff. You can view the latest courses added here.

New tutorial: 10 Steps to creating patient information

Inspired by Health Information Week we have created a new sway presentation 10 steps to creating patient information. Here you'll learn about health literacy and find hints and tips on preparing your own patient information.

And finally... Are you beach-bag ready?

Ready for the holidays? You're all packed?

- ✓ Sun cream
- ✓ Big hat
- ✓ Sun glasses
- ✓ Over-shirt / t-shirt
- ✓ Something mood-boosting from the Health Library?

Pop a book from our Reading Well collection into your beach bag for a relaxing time.
