

Which database do you need?

NHS staff can access databases for literature searching. See below for the recommended databases for you.

Nurses

- Key nursing databases

CINAHL : Emcare : Medline : Cochrane Library : TRIP

Midwives

- Key midwifery databases

CINAHL : Emcare : Medline : Cochrane Library : TRIP

Medics

- Key medical databases

Medline : Embase : Cochrane Library : TRIP

Therapists

- Key databases for allied health therapists

CINAHL : Emcare : Medline : Cochrane Library : TRIP

Pharmacists

- Key databases for pharmacists

Embase : Medline : Cochrane Library : TRIP

Mental Health Professionals

- Key databases for mental health professionals

PsycInfo [North Staffs Combined only] : Embase : Medline : Cochrane Library : TRIP

Managers

- Key databases for administrators and managers working in the NHS

HMIC : Medline : PsycInfo [North Staffs Combined only] : TRIP

Access via NHS OpenAthens. Ask at the Library for help.

Key Bibliographic Databases for Literature Searching

CINAHL

available via Ebsco

Comprehensive range of nursing and healthcare journal titles

Cochrane Library

Free on the Internet

Systematic reviews for conditions, diseases and interventions

Embase

available via Ovid

Covers pharmaceutical, biotechnology and biomedical topics

Emcare

available via Ovid

Wide range of topics in nursing and allied health.

HMIC

available via Ovid

Invaluable resource for administrators and managers

Medline

available via Ebsco, Ovid

Comprehensive range of healthcare journal titles

PsychInfo

available via Ovid

Comprehensive coverage of mental health topics [North Staffs Combined Healthcare only]

TRIP

free on the Internet

Specialist search engine for high-level, quality evidence online