BUILDING & FARMING in Cheshire in the mid eighteenth century

ACCOUNTS, primarily INVOICES, relating to expenses incurred by Peter Legh of Norbury Booths (near Knutsford), Cheshire, on his Cheshire properties, 1755-1760; and deeds (mostly copies) relating to Legh family properties in Northwich, &c., 1718-1805.

The properties mentioned include Booths, New Hall, the Angel Inn in Northwich, and lands in Torkington and Mobberley; there are also invoices for goods supplied from, or transported from, Manchester, Liverpool &c.

The two chief subjects of the invoices are building works and farming activities. Building works were substantial and there is much specific detail both of materials used (e.g. wet hair for plastering; 57,200 bricks made at Shaw Heath) and buildings constructed or repaired. Works at Booth Mills specify the shelling mill, hard corn mill, dressing mill, water wheel, and buying burrs for the wheat millstone. 40 burr stones were supplied from Liverpool at 9s each. (Accounts of John Dale.)

The agricultural works include work on crops, ditching, and a number of allusions to marling, including appearance of the dialect word 'feigh' (e.g. of a marl pit); in Feb. 1759 payment was made to J Hardman for catching 296 moles (£ 1 7s 0d). There are also accounts for payments of poor and other rates; for allowances of James Burgess as poor overseer, constable and surveyor of highways for Over Knutsford in 1757-58; for John Aldcroft as cryer and jury summoner for the manor courts of Over Knutsford, 1755-59; and much other local detail.

Peter Legh of Norbury Booths (1723-1804)

Is known to have been involved in major building works. G Ormerod, History...of Chester, i, 1887, p. 496 mentions a spacious mansion finished in 1745; as Legh would only have been in his early 20s in 1745, the date should perhaps be 1755 or soon after, in the light of the present papers.

He had several sons; Peter Pennington Legh (died c 1777, in Hackney), and Thomas Legh (d. 1790, Calcutta) predeceased him, but Willoughby Legh and John Legh outlived their father (Ormerod, vol. cit., p. 500).

Feigh : Fay, Fey, surface soil in distinction to subsoil.
