Sixty percent of jobs

This is the estimated number of jobs open to graduates of any discipline. It demonstrates the flexibility of many graduate employers when setting out their academic requirements and that students are not necessarily restricted to careers related to their degree. Both Prospects (prospects.ac.uk) and Targetjobs (targetjobs.co.uk) have detailed information on all areas of graduate employment.

Skills sought by employers

Regardless of which career you pursue after Keele, employers will want evidence of the range of skills and personal qualities you possess and which are required for the job. Your degree is clearly important in this respect but don't forget the extra-curricular activities, positions of responsibility, jobs and voluntary work you may have been engaged in while studying at Keele. These activities allow you to demonstrate the skills and personal qualities required by employers and will be vital in your attempts to secure graduate employment. More information on skills can be found on our website (keele.ac.uk/careers).

The figures are based on the DLHE survey sent to Keele leavers 6 months after graduation. Remember that it can take time for leavers to find the type and level of work they are looking for. Relevant work experience and postgraduate study may be required. Graduate employment is competitive to enter and the quality of initial job applications needs to be good. See below for details of how we can help you develop your career plans and employability.

What happened to Keele's Finance graduates?

Have you ever wondered what happens to students from your course after graduation? Each year, between December and March, Keele University, along with all other public funded universities in the UK, is required by the Higher Education Statistics Agency (www.hesa.ac.uk) to take part in the Destination of Leavers from Higher Education (DLHE) survey of those students who graduated the previous summer. The most recent data available (summer 2018) is for graduates who completed their undergraduate courses in 2016/17.

Postgraduate study?

The number of students choosing to do further study after their degree varies between disciplines. Some students are strongly committed to studying their subject in greater depth and so will proceed to a higher level qualification, such as a masters or PhD. Others will be required to study at postgraduate level due to career choice and the need to gain appropriate qualifications. The 2018 destination figures for Finance show that 42% of graduates entered full-time study or part-time study and employment.

For further advice regarding postgraduate study speak to a Careers Consultant and go to the postgraduate study section on our website (www.keele.ac.uk/careers/postgraduatestudy).

Graduate level jobs?

Of those Finance graduates in employment 6 months after graduation, 100% were in graduate level jobs.
