2. Scheduling of examinations

The Student Records and Examinations Team schedule all timetabled examinations which take place during the official University examination periods. Each examination is scheduled into a timed examination session, normally starting at 9.15 am, 12.30 pm and 16.00 pm.

3. Appointment of Invigilators

Senior Invigilators, Invigilators and Marshals for University examinations are appointed by the Student Records and Examinations Team on an annual basis. All new invigilators are required to attend a training session before they can be allocated any invigilation duties.

Where there are any changes to regulations/procedures, returning invigilators may be required to attend a briefing session before being allocated any further invigilation duties.

Where there is more than one student in an examination venue there should normally be at least two invigilators present; the recommended ratio is at least one extra invigilator for every additional fifty students. Where possible, there should be at least one male and one female invigilator in each venue.

Where there are a very small number of students in a venue (less than 10) it may be appropriate to allocate only one experienced Senior Invigilator to a venue. This will only be possible when an Exam Marshall is working in close proximity and can be called upon to assist as necessary.

4. Roles and responsibilities of Senior Invigilators, Invigilators and Marshals

Senior Invigilator's have significant experience of invigilation procedures and a thorough understanding of Keele University's examination regulations. They have overall responsibility for the examination venue and will direct the invigilation team to support them in carrying out their duties.

4. Organise and motivate the invigilation team
5. Manage and allocate jobs/tasks to invigilators as needed

8. Verify the identity of students in the examination venue (see section 11)
9. Complete the attendance record of students in the examination venue (see section 12)
10. Ensure that students do not have any unauthorised items or materials on their examination desk
11. Keep a record of any incidents or circumstances that may need to be taken into consideration by Schools as part of the marking process (see section 18)

13. Ensure that all unused answer books are returned to the invigilators' desk and that all question papers are collected and placed in the confidential waste sacks in each venue at the end of the examination
14. Ensure that all regulations and procedures are followed and that students are kept under constant supervision

The doors at both ends of the Hall should be unlocked for access by the students and for safety reasons. At the end of the examination the Senior Invigilator should ensure that the venue is locked by Leisure Centre staff.

6. Reporting for duty, collection of examination papers and invigilation packs

The Senior Invigilator is responsible for collecting the examination papers and invigilation pack from the Student Records and Examinations Office and taking them to the examination venue. The invigilation pack will state the names of the invigilators who have been allocated to work in the venue for that session.

Papers should be collected at least 1 hour before the start of examinations in the Alderton Sports Hall and 45 minutes before the start of the examination in all other main venues.

All other Invigilators working in a main venue should report straight to the venue at least 30 minutes before the start of the examination and the Senior Invigilator should mark their arrival time on the Examination Venue Information Sheet.

Seating Lists should already have been posted on the boards/walls outside the venue.

Invigilators working on a one to one basis should report to the Student Records and Examinations Office at least 15 minutes before the start of the examination to collect their Invigilation Pack.

7. Invigilation packs and examination forms

Each invigilation pack contains a number of different reports/lists/forms which detail student and invigilator personal information. Please note: it is important to ensure when working with any paperwork which contains personal details that it is either returned to the Examinations Office, or placed in the confidential waste bag in the examination venue at the end of the examination. There are also various blank forms in each examination venue, these forms should be completed if a specific situation arises and returned to the Examinations Office at the end of the examination. The various reports/lists/forms are referenced throughout this guidance document and Invigilators need to be aware of what each one is used for:

Forms in the Examination Pack – (contain personalised information)

- Examination Venue Information Sheet: used by the Senior Invigilator to record the arrival times of the invigilation team, returned to the Examinations Office at the end of the examination

8. Preparation of the main examination venues

The front of each examination paper packet states the date, time, module number and name of the examination and the materials required by the students in order to complete it. The range of desk numbers will be noted in red in the top right hand corner.

Invigilators must put the following on the desks:

1. Question papers FACE UP on the desks (unless otherwise stated on the rubric of the paper) There may be more than one examination in a venue; the seat numbers on the front of the question paper packet will indicate on which desks the question papers must be placed.
2. Answer books, FACE DOWN. If students are required to answer only on the question paper or a MCQ answer sheet an answer book will not be needed and a white attendance slip must be placed on the desk.
3. Any special requirements (as indicated on the rubric of the question paper e.g. graph paper) must also be placed on the desks.

Once the venue has been set up it cannot be left unattended.

9. Admission of students to the venue and procedures before the examination starts

Students can only be admitted to the venue when the Senior Invigilator is satisfied that the venue is set up correctly and all invigilators have been briefed regarding any special requirements (e.g. use of texts, calculators not allowed etc.).

Students are allocated a desk number for each examination. Seating lists will be displayed outside the examination venue at least thirty minutes before the examination. It is the student's responsibility to find their desk number before they enter the examination venue.

Students who are not on the seating list

If a student is not on the seating list, please first ask if they have individual examination arrangements, such as 25% additional time. If they do, they should be sitting the examination at a different venue. Please contact the Examinations Team to find out which venue the student should be re-directed to.

For examinations taking place in the reassessment periods you must always contact the Examinations Team to check that any student whose name is not on the seating list is eligible to sit that examination.

A student who is eligible to sit the examination and whose name is not on the seating list should be shown to an empty seat and given the correct examination paper and answer book. Their name should be added to the 'Examination Entry List' for that module; their details should also be recorded on the 'Students Added to the Examination Entry List'.

Entering the Venue

Only students, Invigilators and Student and Academic Services staff are allowed to enter the examination venue. Colleagues from academic schools, whose examination is taking place, can be admitted to the venue to deal with any queries on the question paper, or to check permitted texts.

Students must be allowed to enter the examination venue at least 10 minutes before the examination is due to start. Once the students start to enter the venue it is the role of the invigilator to make sure that all students follow correct examination practice and that no regulations are broken.

Invigilators must make sure that students enter the venue in silence.

Personal Belongings

Students are not allowed to have bags and other personal belongings next to their desks; Invigilators must make sure that students leave these in the designated area.

If a student hands a mobile phone or any other item of value to an invigilator they should be issued with a numbered receipt. The item is placed in a clear plastic bag with the second copy of the receipt and stored in the box at the front of the venue. At the end of the examination the item is returned to the student upon production of the matching numbered receipt.

Examination Desk Checks

Invigilators should make a check of all student desks before the examination starts to ensure there are no unauthorised items. The following items are allowed at examination desks:

- ID
- Small plastic bottles of water with no label
- Essential writing/drawing materials
- An approved calculator, provided that they are not prohibited in the rubric
- Watches – these must not be smart or technology enabled

The following items are not allowed at examination desks:

- Food, drink (with the exception of bottled water) and sweets (diabetic students are permitted to eat, the Examinations Team will make these students known to the Senior Invigilator)
- Mobile phones, Smart watches, either on the desk or in a pocket
- Dictionaries (unless loaned to them by an invigilator during the examination)
- Any notes or texts, unless stated in the rubric on the front of the examination paper
- Calculators that are not on the approved list
- Pencil cases/tins, glasses cases, calculator cases

Watches

Students are not allowed to wear a watch during university examinations. Smart watches must be handed to an invigilator; all other watches must be put in a transparent plastic bag, available in all venues, and placed in the top right hand corner of the examination desk where it is clearly visible. Before the examination starts the Senior Invigilator should ask students to indicate whether they require a plastic bag.

Headgear

The wearing of any kind of headgear is not permitted, except for religious observance; students' wearing any non-religious headgear must be asked to remove this before the examination starts.

Student Registration Numbers

Students are required to write their student registration number on any examination stationery used. Before the examination starts the Senior Invigilator should ask if there are any students who do not know their student registration number. Alphabetical lists of current students detailing their registration number are kept in the Examination Marshal Folder and are also available from the Student Records and Examinations Office.

10. Starting the examination

The Senior Invigilator is responsible for making all announcements and will use either the pre-recorded CD, or read the announcements from the laminated script card.

As part of the examination announcements students will be asked to write their name in the box located in the top right-hand corner of the answer book and to seal the fold-down corner, they should also complete the tear-off attendance slip at the bottom of the book.

Invigilators should move around the venue whilst the announcements are being made, making sure that students are following the instructions given and helping with any queries they may have. Students must not turn over their examination answer book, start writing in their answer book, open or turn over the examination paper, until instructed to do so by the Senior Invigilator.

The examination must not begin until all announcements have been completed and must not start before the official start time.

11. Identity checks

All students are required to bring a form of photographic ID to each examination. As part of the examination announcements students are instructed to place their ID on the top right hand corner of their desk. The only acceptable forms of ID are:

- Keele card
- Passport
- Driving licence
- National ID card
- Biometric Residency Permit
- UK Citizenship card.

During the announcements, students will be asked to raise their hand if they do not have a form of photographic ID. Invigilators must place a white label on the front of the examination answer book to indicate the student does not have ID. The label will state 'No ID available, ID Verification Required. Please remain seated at the end of the examination and do not leave the venue'.

The student's details must also be recorded on the 'Students Unable to Provide ID' list.

Any student who does not have a form of photographic ID is not permitted to leave the examination venue early, but must sit quietly in their seat until the end of the examination, when they will be required to report to the Invigilators' desk.

If a student is wearing a full facial covering for religious or cultural reasons and this makes it difficult to identify them, please ask the student to accompany you to a private room where an identity check can be undertaken. When undertaking the ID check there should always be two members of the invigilation team present who are the same gender as the student. If the student refuses to undertake an ID check the we cannot enforce this; inform the student that you will submit a report to the Examinations Office advising that you were unable to verify the student's ID and complete an 'Incident Sheet' with the details.

ID checks take place once the examination has started and at the same time as the collection of attendance slips from the students' desks. Invigilators should check the name on the attendance slip matches the name on the student ID, and the student is the person whose photograph appears on their ID. Where the student does not have any photographic ID the Invigilator should check their details have been recorded onto the 'Students Unable to Provide ID' list.

12. Attendance recording

Attendance slips must be collected in desk number order. Invigilators should use the attendance slips to complete both the 'Examination Entry Lists' and 'Absentee Lists' for each examination:

- Students present in the venue should be marked with a tick (✓)
- Students who did not attend should be marked with the letter 'A'

Invigilators should be vigilant for any student who may be sat in the wrong seat and note this on both Entry and Absentee Lists.

13. Late admission to the examination venue

30 Minute Rule

Students arriving late are allowed to enter the examination up to thirty minutes after the start of the examination. The Senior Invigilator can use discretion and allow any student who arrives up to five minutes after the thirty minute period has passed to sit the examination, but only if no other student sitting that paper has already left. If a student arrives after this time then please check with the Exams Team before allowing any student to sit an examination. The student's arrival time should be noted on an 'Incident Sheet', and the student must be informed that they will not receive any additional time at the end of the examination.

If a student claims their late arrival is due to misinformation provided by the School/Student Records and Examinations Team, this must be reported by an invigilator immediately to the Student Records and Examinations Team, who will investigate and decide whether it is possible for the student to be allowed the full amount of time for the examination.

14. Queries on the examination paper

All Schools provide the name of a member of staff who will be available to answer any queries when their examination is taking place. If there is a query on the examination paper the Senior Invigilator should contact the Student Records and Examinations Team, who will contact the member of staff responsible for that particular question paper. Some Schools may send a representative to the start of their examinations so that they are on hand in case there is a query on the examination paper.

The Student Records and Examinations Team should always be informed of any problem with the question paper as there may be students taking the same examination in a separate venue.

15. Dictionaries

Students are permitted to borrow an English Language dictionary upon request, unless the rubric on the examination paper specifically states that the use of a dictionary is not allowed. Copies of the 'Collins English Dictionary' are provided in each venue.

Students are not permitted to bring their own dictionaries into the examination venue.

If a student requests to borrow a dictionary please always ensure that you check the rubric of the examination paper before issuing a dictionary.

It is expected that students will want to borrow a dictionary to look up specific words. Once the student has finished using the dictionary it should be removed from the student desk and returned to the front of the examination venue, thus ensuring there is sufficient stock to lend to other students throughout the examination.

16. Use of electronic devices in examinations

Students are not allowed to use electronic devices such as, but not limited to, mobile phones, smart watches, smart glasses, tablets, Bluetooth and personal audio equipment in the examination venue. Students must switch off all electronic devices and leave them in their bag or hand to an invigilator for safe keeping.

Unless the rubric of the examination paper states otherwise, students are allowed to use a calculator from the official approved list, copies of the approved list are provided in each examination venue.

All calculators must be checked either before, or as soon as, the examination has started. Calculators not on the approved list should be removed from the student, no replacement can be issued. The University does not provide a calculator loan service and students cannot borrow a calculator from other students.

17. General invigilation procedures during the examination

At least two invigilators are required to be present in the examination venue at all times. Invigilators should:

- Position them self around the examination venue so that all students can be seen by at least one invigilator
- Walk around the venue periodically, whilst being mindful of creating unnecessary distractions for the students
- Ensure that any consultation required with other invigilators is conducted quickly and quietly
- Issue supplementary answer books, with a treasury tag
- Accompany students to the toilet. Toilet breaks should be managed so that in the main venues there are never more than 2 invigilators out of the venue at any one time. A male invigilator should accompany a male student and a female invigilator should accompany a female student
- After 30 minutes, answer books and question papers should be removed from the examination

desks where a student is absent. This prevents these books being inadvertently mixed up with completed examination books at the end of the examination and ensures that none are removed from the examination venue by students

Talking between invigilators should be in lowered voices and kept to an absolute minimum and only when necessary for the purpose of invigilation. Conversation should never take place around or near to students' examination desks.

18. Examination incidents

Inform the Student Records and Examinations Office immediately of any disruption that is affecting the students, for example:

- Loud music
- Building type noise
- Gardening work, cutting grass, cutting back trees etc.
- An alarm going off in the building, or an adjacent building
- Window cleaning

Complete a green 'Incident Sheet' if anything unusual happens, please give a concise account of what has occurred; keep any description of events simple and to the point and bear in mind that any information you write will be passed onto the relevant Schools.

Some examples of incidents that should be recorded:

- Any kind of noise disruptions, including mobile phones ringing from within student bags
- If the examination starts more than 10 minutes late for any reason
- If the examination has to be interrupted to make any kind of announcement, e.g. an error on the examination paper
- Emergency evacuation of the examination venue
- If a student complains for any reason
- Students refusing to stop writing at the end of the examination
- Students leaving the venue at the end of the examination without permission
- Improper or aggressive student behaviour

Students who become unwell or suffer a panic attack

If a student informs you that they are too ill to continue with an examination, or arrives but feels unable to start their examination, they should be directed to speak to their School or Student Support about the Exceptional Circumstances process. The invigilator should complete a 'Student Illness Report Form' and issue the student with a leaflet that explains how the Exceptional Circumstances process works.

If a student is unwell or suffers a panic attack and asks to leave the venue under no circumstances should an invigilator give any advice or try and persuade them to continue. The decision to continue should be taken by the student.

If a student informs you that they do not feel well but would still like to sit, or continue with their examination, you can move them to an alternative seat near to an exit door, offer them a drink of water, or the opportunity to take a fresh air break. If a student opts for a break they must be accompanied by an invigilator, and informed that the time taken cannot be added onto the end of the examination.

In all cases where a student informs you that they are feeling unwell, even if they stay in the venue and finish their examination, you must complete a Student Illness Report Form and issue the leaflet that explains how the Exceptional Circumstances process works.

If you are concerned about the welfare of a student who has left an examination venue in a distressed state you should report this immediately to the Student Records and Examinations Team who will contact Student Support and/or the School who will get in touch with the student and check their condition.

Mobile Phones and Smart Watches

If a student is found to have a mobile phone or a Smart watch on their person during an examination this should be removed, they should be issued with a numbered receipt and asked to report to the front desk at the end of the examination.

The invigilator should complete two copies of the 'Unauthorised Material in Examination' form and place these with the numbered receipt and the phone/watch in a clear plastic bag.

At the end of the examination the student is required to sign both copies of the form, and their phone/watch is returned to them.

One copy of the form should be issued to the student and the second copy returned to the Student Records and Examinations Team.

Calculators

If a student has brought a calculator that is not on the University approved list it should be removed. The student must be issued with a numbered receipt and asked to report to the front desk at the end of the examination.

The calculator should be placed in a clear plastic bag together with the second copy of the numbered receipt and the leaflet explaining which calculators are permitted.

At the end of the examination please return the calculator to the student and bring to their attention the leaflet which gives details of the University Policy on the use of Calculators in Examinations.

Inappropriate Behaviour

It will be the judgment of the Senior Invigilator to exclude from the examination venue any student whose behaviour causes disruption to other students and who does not correct their behaviour following a verbal warning.

19. Procedures for dealing with suspected cheating in an examination

If an invigilator suspects a student of cheating during an examination or having access to unpermitted material, this should be reported to the Senior Invigilator. The student must not be challenged at this point. The Senior Invigilator should try to witness the suspected cheating. If it is the Senior Invigilator who has first observed the suspected cheating, he/she should ask another experienced invigilator to see if they can also witness what the student is doing.

The second invigilator watching the student should do so discreetly, at a distance.

Once two invigilators are satisfied that there appears to be a case of suspected cheating, the Senior Invigilator should ask the student to accompany them outside the examination venue; ideally, the second invigilator who viewed the alleged cheating should also accompany them. The Senior Invigilator should remove everything from the student's desk, including coats, jackets and anything on the floor near the student and take it outside with them.

Once outside the Senior Invigilator should inform the student what has been observed by two invigilators and that this will be reported to the Academic Misconduct Panel. The student should be informed that it is in their best interests to co-operate and that their co-operation, or lack of it, will be reported to the Panel.

The Senior Invigilator should ask the student to hand over what they were observed using. If the student denies that they were using or were in possession of unpermitted material, the Senior Invigilator may ask certain questions which will depend on what was observed: e.g.

- if the student was observed putting notes in their pocket, the student could be asked to empty their pockets
- if the student appeared to be looking at something written on their hand/arm, the student could be asked to show their hand/arm, which may mean asking them to roll up their sleeves
- photographic evidence may be taken if necessary, please ensure that you gain the consent of the student before taking any photographs. A camera will be available in each main venue for this purpose

If the student refuses to answer any questions, hand over any material, or to allow a photograph to be taken of any evidence, the Senior Invigilator should inform the student, that the refusal will be noted as part of the report to the Academic Misconduct Panel.

At no point should an invigilator make physical contact with a student, or ask that they remove any clothing.

The Senior Invigilator should check the items removed from the student's desk to ensure that no unauthorised material is hidden there.

If the student has writing on their person, the Senior Invigilator should transcribe the material and ask the second invigilator to check that it has been transcribed correctly.

Any unpermitted material should be retained by the Senior Invigilator and the student should be informed that it will be handed to the Student Records and Examinations Team. If the student asks for the material/item back, they must go to the Student Services Centre after the examination to request this.

The Senior Invigilator should mark the student's examination script to show the point at which the student was spoken to about the suspected cheating. Once the interview is complete, the student can be allowed to return to the examination venue and complete the examination in the scheduled timeframe i.e. they will not be permitted any additional time because of the investigation.

If the Senior Invigilator believes that the student was cheating in the examination they should complete a 'Report of Suspected Academic Misconduct' form and ask any other members of the invigilation team who witnessed the cheating to add details in the relevant sections.

If the Senior Invigilator is satisfied that the student has offered a valid explanation to show that they were not cheating, he/she should inform the student that a report will be submitted to the School to confirm that the student was disturbed during the examination. The student should be allowed to return to the examination venue and complete the examination in the scheduled timeframe; they cannot be permitted any additional time because of the investigation. The Senior Invigilator should complete an 'Incident Sheet'.

If a Senior Invigilator is unsure of how to deal with an incident they should contact the Student Records and Examinations Team for advice.

A student must not be taken out of the examination venue unless two invigilators have clearly observed cheating. If at the end of the examination, the second invigilator has not been able to observe anything specific but is satisfied that the student was behaving suspiciously, e.g. spending a lot of time watching the location of the invigilators, the Senior Invigilator may choose to ask the student to remain behind and talk to them about what was observed.

If there is insufficient evidence to challenge a student either during, or at the end of the examination, but the Senior Invigilator believes that there was suspicious behaviour, please report this to the Student Records and Examinations Team by completing an examination 'Incident Sheet'.

20. Emergency procedure during examinations

In an emergency situation, or if a serious problem occurs during an examination, the Student Records and Examinations Team must be contacted immediately. The nearest telephones to examination venues are as follows:

Alderton Sports Hall	Reception Desk in the Leisure Centre
Lindsay Main Theatre	In the examination venue (ex: 37890)
Walter Moberly Seminar Rm WM0.01	In the examination venue (ex 32671; 32601)

Fire

There is a fire action notice displayed in each venue, which states the procedure for calling the Fire Brigade in the event of a fire:

1. Sound the alarm
2. Dial 9 – 999 to call the Fire Brigade.
3. Dial 888 to inform Security (so that they can arrange for the fire service to be met at Main entrance)
4. Attack the fire only if safe to do so.
5. On hearing the fire alarm leave the building by the nearest safe route.
6. Close doors behind you.
7. Report to assembly point(assembly point will be indicated on the Fire Action Notice)

Do not return to the building for any reason until authorised to do so. Do not use lifts.

Invigilators must ensure that they are aware of the location of the nearest telephone. If there is only an internal telephone (with no direct line out of the University) the invigilator will need to ring Security on 888 to make arrangements for the emergency services to be called.

First Aid

Security staff are trained in first aid and should be contacted by calling 888. If an ambulance is required, dial 9 for an outside line and 999 for the ambulance service. Security should also be informed on 888 that the ambulance service has been called so they can arrange to meet it on campus.

Emergency evacuation of the examination venue

The Senior Invigilator is responsible for initiating evacuation procedures in the event of an emergency, e.g. fire, bomb scare, gas leak, etc. This could be as a result of hearing the fire alarm, or receiving a communication from Security or the Student Records and Examinations Team. In such cases the Senior Invigilator should make the following announcement:

"Ladies and Gentlemen - an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary for you to leave the building. Please walk out calmly by (whichever exits are useable). Do not stop to collect your belongings. Leave all examination scripts and papers on your desk. Please assemble at [give local assembly point] and please do not leave this area until you are told to do so."

Local assembly points are as follows:

- Alderton Sports Hall– Leisure Centre Car Park
- Chancellors Building – Chancellor's Building Car Park
- Dorothy Hodgkin Building – Front of Huxley Building
- Library – Union Square
- Lindsay Main Theatre - Outside Hexagon Building
- Walter Moberly – Chapel Forecourt

Invigilators should make sure that all available exits are opened and that students follow the instructions issued to them.

A note must be made of the time that the examination was stopped.

Inform the Student Records and Examinations, by telephone, of any emergency situation where an examination has had to be stopped as soon as possible and it is safe to do so. This could mean one of the invigilators being released to walk to another building, not affected by the emergency, in order to access a telephone. Colleagues from the Student Records and Examinations Team will arrive to assist with organising the students outside of the building.

When evacuating an examination venue the Senior Invigilator should remove the absentee lists. At the Assembly Point a register (using the absentee list) must be taken to ensure all students and invigilators have left the building.

If there is a fire and remaining at the Assembly Point becomes unsafe it may be necessary to move further away from the building. Usually Security staff would be able to offer advice, but if not, the Senior Invigilator should make a decision whether to allow students to move from the Assembly Point.

When the Fire Brigade arrives, the Senior Fire Officer will take control of the situation and his/her instructions must be followed. No one must re-enter the building for any reason until the Senior Fire Brigade Officer has given permission to do so.

The invigilators should ask all students to remain at the Assembly Point until a decision has been taken by the Student Records and Examinations Team as to whether the examination will be abandoned. If the emergency turns out to be a false alarm and permission is given to re-enter the building it may be decided to restart the examination, this will depend upon how much time has elapsed since the examination was stopped and how much time is remaining.

Power Failure

If there is a power cut which results in visibility being reduced to such an extent that the students are unable to write, the examination must be stopped. The Senior Invigilator should note the time and make the following announcement:

“Due to the power failure the examination is being halted. Please stop writing, keep silent and remain in your seats while we find out how long the power failure is likely to last.”

A member of the invigilation team should contact the Student Records and Examinations Team, who will immediately contact the Estates Team to find out why the power failure has occurred and how long it is likely to last. Upon receipt of this information an informed decision will be made as to whether or not the examination will be re-started.

If the power is restored within a short period of time the Senior Invigilator will announce that the examination is to be re-started and will state the new end time.

If the decision is taken not to continue with the examination the invigilators should collect all the examination scripts in the usual way. The Senior Invigilator should give students permission to leave. However due to the reduced lighting levels students should be asked to leave a few rows at a time and advised to be very careful when leaving the venue.

Restarting an examination after an emergency evacuation

Once all students are back in their seats in the venue the Senior Invigilator should:

- Instruct students to draw a line under their work. This is to indicate the work completed before the evacuation
- Inform students that the full amount of time lost during the evacuation will be added to the end of the examination and that an additional 10 minutes will be added to compensate for the disruption to allow students to regain their concentration
- Inform students of the new finish time of the examination
- Complete an 'Incident Sheet'

21. Temporary absence from the examination venue and early leavers

Students may ask to leave the venue temporarily, for example to take a toilet break; they should raise their hand if they need attention, no additional time can be given to compensate for time lost during their absence from the venue.

Students may not leave the venue to smoke.

Students may leave only one at a time, and must be accompanied by an invigilator.

If a student is absent from the venue for a substantial amount of time because of illness or panic, the invigilators should complete an 'Incident Sheet'.

If any student finishes their examination earlier than the scheduled time and requests permission to leave, a tick (✓) should be placed in the 'Early Leaver' column on the Absentee sheet. This is required for safety reasons.

If a student finishes early they must raise their hand, request permission to leave and hand in their completed script. If a student leaves an examination venue without requesting permission their details should be recorded on an 'Incident Sheet'.

If a student without ID finishes their examination early they are not permitted to leave the venue. They should be instructed to remain in their seat until the end of the examination.

Students are not permitted to leave the examination in the first thirty minutes. This is because students arriving late are allowed to enter the examination venue up to thirty minutes into the examination, and ensures that late arrivals will not have contact with any person who has seen the examination paper.

Students are also not allowed to leave the examination in the last fifteen minutes. This minimises disruption at the end of the examination.

22. Procedures for the end of examinations

Announcements

The Senior Invigilator will announce when fifteen minutes of the examination time remains, and will end the examination at the appropriate time, making the necessary announcements. Students are allowed to complete details on the front cover of their answer books in the period immediately after the examination has finished, but no additions may be made to answers during this period.

If an invigilator notices that a student is still writing in their answer book after the announcement to end the examination they must be told to stop. If the student continues to write after being specifically instructed to stop their details must be recorded on an 'Incident Sheet'.

Collecting completed scripts

Invigilators are responsible for collecting all the answer books before the students are permitted to leave the venue. When collecting answer books invigilators should check that a student number has been entered on the front cover. To help identify any discrepancies, books should be collected in desk number order. All other materials distributed to students (e.g. periodic tables, Handbooks of Mathematics, Physics and Astronomy Data) should also be collected and returned to the invigilators' desk.

Invigilators should check to see if there is a white label on the front of the examination answer books to indicate the student has not presented a form of photographic ID. Any student that has a white label on the front of their examination answer book should be asked to leave their seat and report to the Invigilators desk at the front of the venue. Their completed script should be collected with all the other scripts as normal.

A check should be carried out against the 'Missing ID List' to ensure that all students are present. The names of any student who fails to report to the Invigilators Desk at the end of the examination should be highlighted on the list and will be reported to the Student Conduct Office. An invigilator must accompany the students to the Student Services Centre in the Tawney Building where their ID will be checked against their ID held on the student record system.

Note: if a student produces their ID at the end of the examination their name should be crossed off the 'Students Unable to Provide ID' list and they do not need to go to the Student Services Centre.

Leaving the venue

When all the desks are clear of examination books, the Senior Invigilator will announce that the students may leave the venue. Until that time students must remain seated and silent.

Students are NOT permitted to remove any paper from their desk, including question papers, additional material supplied by the School (as detailed on the rubric etc.) nor any answer books. Invigilators are responsible for checking that students do not remove anything except their personal belongings.

No one should be allowed into the venue until the examination has ended and students have left the venue.

Collection of Scripts

When the students have left the examination venue, the number of scripts within each subject should be counted and matched against the number of attendees to ensure that all the answer books/sheets have been collected. Completed scripts should be placed in a storage case together with the corresponding 'Examination Entry List'.

A designated representative from each School will collect the completed student answer books/sheets, and/or any question papers used by students for recording their answers. The names will be listed on the 'Receipt for Scripts' form and the Senior Invigilator must ask the representative for identification. The representative must sign for the number of scripts taken. Any examination scripts that are not collected by Schools should be returned to the Examinations Team by the Senior Invigilator. The Exam Absentee Lists and attendance slips must be returned to the Student Records and Examinations Office.

Before leaving, the invigilators should ensure that everything is cleared away and that the examination desks are tidy. The Senior Invigilator is responsible for preparing for the next examination session by:

- Checking the number of boxes of unused answer books remaining in the examination venue and if fewer than 5 boxes, inform the Student Records and Examinations Team so that further stock can be delivered. Advise the Student Records and Examinations Team if there is a shortage of any other stationery
- Ensuring that the 'Seating Lists' displayed outside the venue for the current examination session have been removed and replaced with the 'Seating Lists' for the next examination session
- Ensuring that all doors are locked upon leaving and that all lights have been turned off

The Senior Invigilator should ensure that the following is returned to Student Records and Examinations Office:

- Any examination scripts (and Examination Entry Lists) not collected by Schools
- Absentee Lists
- Students added to the Examination Entry List (if used)
- Attendance Slips
- Receipt for Scripts Forms
- Examination Venue Information Sheet
- Any completed Incident Sheets
- Any completed Illness Report Forms
- Students Unable to Provide ID List (if used)
- Unauthorised Materials and Misconduct Forms (if used)
- Key to the venue (if applicable)

23. Invigilation for students with individual requirements

Individual arrangements are put in place for a range of circumstances including dyslexia, visual, physical and sensory impairment or chronic illness and can include the following: extra time, rest breaks, use of a computer, amanuensis, reader, etc. Students take their examinations in either the 25% additional time room (WM1.03), Library PC Labs 1/2, or in an individual room on a 1 to 1 basis.

The Senior Invigilator responsible for a venue with more than one student with individual requirements will be asked to collect the examination pack and question papers from the Student Records and Examinations Office at least 45 minutes before the start of the session.

An invigilator allocated to a 1 to 1 session will be asked to collect their examination pack and question paper from the Student Records and Examinations Office and meet their allocated student at the designated meeting point, 15 minutes before the start of the session. The Invigilator will then accompany the student to the allocated examination venue.

The exam announcements for students sitting an exam in an individual venue are listed in Appendix 2.

At the end of the examination the Senior Invigilator will return the completed examination answer books, attendance sheets and attendance slips, together with any equipment provided (e.g. clocks, statistical tables) to the Student Records and Examinations Office.

Invigilators will be issued with a sheet that lists the requirements for each individual student. This sheet is confidential and should not be shared with, or left visible to students.

Dyslexia

Dyslexic students will typically be permitted 25% additional time in their examinations. They are issued with a set of numbered labels by Disability Services which they are permitted to take to their examination desk and stick to the front cover of their examination answer book. The invigilator should ensure that no crib notes have been written on these labels.

Some dyslexic students will be supplied with different coloured examination papers, or they may have permission to bring a colour overlay to put on top of their examination paper.

Visual Impairment

The level of visual impairment can vary considerably and so the type of special provision provided will differ. Some students require enlarged examination papers and extra time. Other students may require the aid of an amanuensis, a reader, and/or Braille papers. If a Braille paper is provided, the invigilator will be issued with a typed copy of the examination paper, in case the student has any queries.

Severely visually impaired students may also have a support worker accompany them. It is important that the invigilator announces both their arrival and departure and lets the student know what they are doing.

Ask the student if they need any help in preparing themselves for the examination. If you need to guide them across the venue to a chair, you should let the student take your arm (above the elbow), not the other way round. Once the chair is reached the invigilator should put their arm that is being held by the student on the back of the chair and allow the student to transfer their hand to the chair. The student will be able to seat themselves. The invigilator should not attempt to seat the student as this could be viewed as undignified and unnerving.

If a guide dog is present please do not make a big fuss of it; make sure that the guide dog has adequate space and ventilation whilst in the examination venue.

Rest Breaks

Some students are permitted rest breaks during the examination. This may be in addition to, or instead, of extra time and will be stated on the examination paperwork. Rest breaks are normally 15 minutes and can be taken either in one 15 minute block, or other smaller blocks, until the total 15 minutes have been taken. At the start of the examination the invigilator should ask the student to let them know if/when they wish to stop for a rest break. Be aware that although allocated rest breaks, some students are unsure how the system works. Please inform the student that they have to request each rest break and they decide both when to take them and the duration of each break. The invigilator should note each time the examination is stopped and the time the examination is restarted on either the 'Report for Students in Individual Rooms' form (or an 'Incident Sheet' if the student is sitting in a venue with other students). The stoppage time must be added onto the official end time of the examination. Please inform the student when they have exhausted all their rest break time. If the student does not take any rest breaks during the examination this should be noted on the 'Report for Students in Individual Rooms' form or an 'Incident Sheet'.

Using a PC or a Laptop

The student should be allowed time to familiarize themselves with the PC/Laptop and set it up according to their requirements. For example, visually impaired students may wish to adjust the font size. The invigilator should sit in a position so that they can see what the student is doing on the PC/Laptop at all times. It is not always possible to provide a non-networked PC so this will enable the invigilator to check that the student is not accessing any unauthorised files.

Logging on to the University network is NOT permitted. Students should use the C drive only, and save their work on the USB memory stick provided, unless other instructions have been given to the invigilator. The invigilator will be supplied with USB memory sticks. The student should be advised to save their work on the USB memory stick regularly, this will ensure that should there be a power failure or PC crash, the amount of work lost is minimised. The use of the spell checker is permitted. The student has the option to return to the Student Services Centre with the invigilator and request to see the printed version of their examination script.

Amanuensis

Some students are allocated an amanuensis, who will write the examination answers from the student's dictation. The amanuensis will normally also act as the invigilator for the examination. The amanuensis must not make any comment on what they have been asked to write apart from asking for clarification on spelling e.g. for technical words or proper names. The student must be allowed to check what the amanuensis has written and ask for changes to be made if necessary; this must take place in the allotted examination time. The student is permitted to use a supplementary answer book for making notes/essay plan. This should also be handed in with the completed answer script and clearly labelled as rough work.

Reader

Some students are allocated a reader to read the question paper for them in the examination. The reader will also act as the invigilator. Sometimes a student will require a reader and an amanuensis. At the start of the examination a reader should ask the student to let them know when they would like their assistance in reading the examinations questions. A reader should only read what is on the question paper; they cannot offer any explanation regarding the meaning of an examination question.

Prompter

Prompters assist students in monitoring the passage of time so they can manage their examination time more effectively.

Script/Answer Checker

If a student is known to have particularly bad handwriting we may ask the invigilator to check their completed examination script. This should always be done in the presence of the student. The script/answer checker reads the students answers and where there is a word that they are not sure of, they ask the student what the word is. They write that word, in a different coloured ink, above the word that is illegible on the examination script.

Hearing Impairment

For students with hearing impairments, invigilators must:

- attract the attention of the student before speaking;
- always face the student when speaking, standing about 3-6 ft. away, and keeping their face and mouth clear to enable the student to lip-read;
- not shout, as it distorts sound and use clear and non-exaggerated lip movements

If the student does not understand you, repeat what you have said and try to rephrase it. This is because some words look alike on the lips. Good, even lighting is required for lip reading, e.g. close the blinds if bright sunlight is shining in the venue.

A student may require the invigilator to wear a radio aid so that they can hear what is being said. This works like a small induction loop system. The student wears the amplifier round their neck and the invigilator wears the microphone. The invigilator will be informed if they need to wear this radio aid which will be brought to the examination venue by the student.

Panic

Some students may be taking their examination in a small venue because they suffer panic attacks when taking examinations with large group of students. Normally when they are with a small group, or on their own, there should not be a problem. However, if for any reason the student feels they need fresh air; this is acceptable, provided an invigilator accompanies them. No additional time for the examination is allowed for this, an 'Incident Sheet' should be completed.

EXAMINATION ANNOUNCEMENTS MAIN VENUES (START OF EXAMINATION)

The following instructions are to be issued to students either by the Senior Invigilator, or by using the CD recorded announcement:

At the end of the examination announce that the examination time has finished:

- (a) The examination has now finished, please stop writing now.
- (b) Ensure that you have completed the appropriate sections of the answer books. You must not amend existing answers.
