Dear students,

As part of our commitment to continually work to improve our programmes, and in light of our plans to start next academic year with a hybrid delivery model due to the impact of Covid-19, we are confirming in this document the changes to your programme in the Academic Year 2020/21. More general information about what studying at the University will be like in 2020/21 can be found here:

Specific planned changes

How the programme will be taught (include any significant changes to the balance between on campus and digital delivery and what students can expect)	Teaching will mainly be a mix of synchronous (online but at allocated times with academic tutors) and asynchronous (where teaching materials and activities can be worked with at a time that suits you). There will also be some in situ tutorials spread through each module. These will be indicated clearly on the student timetable. It is planned that students will undertake approximately 25% synchronous teaching but this will vary from module to module and will be indicated clearly on the student timetable.
Changes to placements, field courses or other practical activities (where applicable)	N/A
Learning resources and any potential additional costs (such as equipment requirements)	Given an increasing level of online teaching and assessments for this programme, it would be preferable if students had access to computer equipment with a webcam and microphone. It may also be preferable for students to have adequate Wi-Fi connectivity and associated internet speeds. Students who need support in accessing appropriate IT equipment may be eligible to apply for support from the University's hardship fund .
How the programme will be assessed (a general summary of changes to assessment methods)	There is no change to the assessment schedule
How students are supported (any alternative arrangements such as communication methods, support networks etc.)	Students will be supported by their Personal Tutor and the Module Leads.
