

David Bruce Centre for American Studies, Seminar Schedule, 2018-19

Autumn Semester

October 31, 2018: Nick Grant (University of East Anglia)
Patriotism, Black Internationalism and the Second Red Scare

November 21, 2018, Paul Williams (University of Exeter)
The New Left vs. Underground Comix: Paul Buhle and Comics Criticism in the Late 1960s and Early 1970s

November 28, 2018: Katherine Ballantyne (University of Birmingham and Bruce Centre Research Fellow)
"I'm Already in Hell": West Tennessee Interracial Activism and the Grassroots Civil Rights Movement

Spring Semester

February 6, 2019: Nathan Cardon (University of Birmingham)
"A Thorough Leveler and Vulgarizer": Disruptive Technology and Bicycle Subjectivities in the New South, 1885-1929

February 27, 2019: Jennifer Terry (Durham University)
"An Experiment of Unusual Opportunity": Medical Science and the Scopic in the Art of Ellen Gallagher

March 20, 2019, at 5pm: Martin Halliwell (University of Leicester)
The Southern Flood: American Health in a State of Emergency

April 3, 2019: Douglas Field (University of Manchester)
Transatlantic Little Magazines, 1958-1974 and the Failure of the Avant-garde

Unless otherwise stated, seminars are held in the David Bruce Centre (CBB1.030) at 2.15pm. After the session, attendees usually join the speaker for tea/coffee. Please direct any questions to DBC Director, Oliver Harris (o.c.g.harris@keele.ac.uk).